Q&A WITH ROLAND ROM COLTHOFF, ARCHITECT AT RAW

THE ART OF DISTINCTION

There is an art to function and form - a thoughtful expression in design that invites exquisite living. Roland Rom Colthoff, lead architect at RAW Design, shares his thoughts on creating Savile on the Roe.

WHAT WAS YOUR VISION FOR SAVILE ON THE ROE?

We are trying to create a very exclusive little enclave in the Mount Pleasant area. The residences have some of the advantages of individual freehold towns with the addition of elevator access and indoor parking. We want to create a very livable and convenient environment that still reflects the character of the family homes in the area from which many of our residents will originate.

HOW DID THE LOCATION OF THIS BUILDING INFLUENCE ITS DESIGN?

The design is intended to be a 'mild' take on a classic townhome. The materials and colour palette proposed are intended to complement its neighbours, while the proportion of windows and doors is reminiscent of the vernacular of the area.

WHAT WAS YOUR INSPIRATION?

Our influences were the grand brownstones of New York and the Back Bay of Boston, only elevated with more contemporary disciplines.

HOW DO YOU REINVENT AN ESSENCE OF MODERN LUXURY?

Referencing the term "Bespoke", it means thoughtfully designed, highly personal. The entry sequence from the steps to the door handle are intended to convey a sense of individual exclusivity and comfort. Luxury is also expressed in the experience of space and light. A direct connection to the outdoors and natural light without a loss of privacy. Carefully curated terraces and screens contribute to this. The inclusion of an elevator adds to the exclusivity.

HOW DOES PRACTICAL FUNCTIONALITY COME INTO CREATING FASHIONABLE SPACES?

Functional means providing a sense of spaciousness within the confines of a townhome. Thoughtful and efficient space planning to open the interiors and views through the dwelling.

Q&A WITH MELANDRO QUILATAN, PRINCIPAL PARTNER AT TOMAS PEARCE INTERIOR DESIGN

THE REINVENTION OF MODERN LUXURY

Inspired by the past, re-imagined for today. Melandro Quilatan, Principal Partner at Tomas Pearce Interior Design highlights the inspiration on bringing together the best of traditional and contemporary design expressions to create an original level of luxury at Savile on the Roe.

WHAT WAS YOUR VISION FOR SAVILE ON THE ROE?

We were inspired by executive townhouse living popularized by the grand brownstones in New York and Boston. At their height they were, and still are, highly sought after. Savile on the Roe is a contemporary re-imagining of the brownstones of that era brought forward in a classic modern update of gracious living.

WHAT ARE SOME TRADITIONAL DESIGN ELEMENTS USED TO DEFINE LUXURY?

Hardwoods, marbles, fine metals, and moulding details. We brought those elements into the modern age with durable new materials that fill that need for luxury, but in a pared-down modern interpretation that retains a timelessness.

HOW DID YOU REINVENT CONTEMPORARY ELEGANCE?

Savile on the Roe evokes old-world elegance but with our modern take on that. We designed an offset fireplace for example that speaks to the past yet is designed for a contemporary audience. We streamlined panel mouldings and cleaned up traditional wall details so that they retain elegance and reflect a new aesthetic for today's modern interiors.

HOW DOES FUNCTIONALITY COME INTO CREATING FASHIONABLE SPACES?

All our interiors are designed to accommodate a busy modern lifestyle. We like our interiors to make a statement and be sophisticated, but at the same time we know that day to day living isn't always 'formal'. We create unique finishes for many of our spaces and have a strong belief in luxury that is also durable and sustainable.

HOW DOES THE TERM "BESPOKE" TRANSLATE INTO YOUR DESIGN?

Bespoke is a term that means NOT 'off the rack'. In the case of Savile on the Roe many of the design elements brought into play are indeed unique to the project. From custom stained hardwood floors to grand circular stairs, Savile on the Roe is offering a different choice to discerning purchasers.
